This map shows tribal census tract boundaries and numbers within the subject entity; nontribal census tract boundaries are shown outside of the subject entity. A census tract is a statistical area defined by the U.S. Census Bureau. A tribal census tract is a census tract defined within a federally recognized American Indian reservation or off-reservation trust land for the purpose of providing data based on an American Indian hierarchy rather than by state and county. Where reservation or off-reservation trust lands cross state or county boundaries, the same tribal census tract number may be assigned on both sides of the boundary, and, if so, will constitute a single tribal census tract. Tribal census tracts are numbered sequentially within a reservation or off-reservation trust land.

* A following block number indicates that the block number is repeated elsewhere in the block.
